Response to Amendment

The amendment filed 3/16/2005 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bernal (Science, Vol. 222, 8/1983), for the reasons set forth in the office action mailed 10/30/2003.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bernal (Science, 1983, PTO-892) in view of Hancock (US 4,816,395), for the reasons set forth in the office action mailed 10/30/2003.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 3/16/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant asserts that Bernal showed improvement in some but not all cases by administration of rohdamine-123, thus only provides an invitation to experiment as an obvious to try situation without a reasonable expectation of success.

This is not found persuasive because Bernal discloses methods of treating cancers having all the same steps as claimed. The fact that the methods of treating cancer in Bernal did not show improvement in all cases does not negate that the method was performed successfully. Almost all forms of therapy are not successful in every case, but this does imply that they are not useful and fully disclosed. Additionally, the terminology used in this argument for the 102 rejection, i.e., obvious to try, no reasonable expectation of success and invitation to experiment, are arguments to rebut a rejection under 35 USC 103 for obviousness. It is noted that the rejection is an anticipatory rejection. While a rejection under 35 USC 103 was also present in the office action, no arguments have been specifically provided for this rejection in the response.

Applicant further asserts that the agent is delivery topically rather than intraperitoneally as set forth in the prior art.

This is not found persuasive because intraperitoneally delivery as set forth in the prior art would be within the scope of topically as set forth in the claims. The term topically as set forth herein, given its broadest reasonable interpretation, would mean applied to an isolated part of the body. Clearly, the intraperitoneally delivery of the rhodamine-123 is being applied to an isolated part of the body, i.e., the tumor cells that have been implanted into the membrane lining wall of the abdominal cavity. There is no difference seen between the administration as set forth in the claims and that of the prior art. While two different terms are being used, in this case the terms are overlapping.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1 and 5-10 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of U.S. Patent No. 6,649,144 (Application No. 09/673,991), for the reasons set forth in the office action mailed 10/30/2003. This rejection has been changed from a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection to a non-provisional because the application has now in fact been patented.

No arguments have been provided for this rejection, therefore it is maintained for reasons of record.

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-10 have been considered but are moot in view of the following new ground(s) of rejection.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The specification fails to describe "topically" delivering the agent in the diagnostic and/or method for selective killing as claimed. The specification broadly describes delivering the agent, mainly by addition of the agent to the cells in tissue culture incubators for determining uptake and retention of the agent; however, there is nothing which explicitly or implicitly specifically describes delivering the agent topically as claimed.

Conclusion

No claims are allowed at this time.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
